Bird Observer Web Site

The Bird Observer web site offers an easy way to communicate with the journal's staff, and it also includes reprints of articles of topical interest, tables of contents from the last four years (search for that article you remember but can't locate), "At A Glance" photos, and links of interest to New England Birders. Visit our web site at

Volunteers Wanted

Bird Observer is always interested in volunteers to help produce and run the journal. Birding skills are not a prerequisite, just an enthusiasm for getting involved. Interested? To discuss it further, call Marjorie Rines at (781) 643-6128, or email her at <marjrines@mediaone.net >.
