Authors and illustrators should carefully examine the engraver's proofs against copies of the originals in their possession. Isolated numbers or symbols can be accidentally removed during engraving.

Experience has taught us that over half of the illustrations must be repaired and many are barely minimal. Costs of alterations may be passed on to the author.

Publications particularly helpful on the problems of preparing illustrations are the American Standard Illustrations for Publication and Projection (ASA Y15.1—1959, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, 345 East 47th, New York, N. Y. 10017) and the A.I.B.S. style manual.

References. A terminal list of references should be given for articles containing more than five literature citations. Authors should use forms and abbreviations of serial publication titles stipulated by the A.I.B.S. style manual. For bibliographic citations in texts not having a terminal list of references, authors should conform with these examples: Crowell (Auk 85:265, 1968), or (Crowell, Auk 85:265, 1968). In-text citations of publications by three or more authors should in all cases be in the form "Jones et al." Consult current issues of the journal for additional details. Check the accuracy of citations against original sources.

Proof and Reprints. Proofs will ordinarily be sent to the senior author. Please inform the Editor well in advance of any change in address or mechanism for handling proofs. Proofs should be checked carefully against typescript, and both returned promptly to the Editor. Reprints must be ordered from Allen Press on blanks sent with the proof and are to be paid for by the author. It is the policy of The Condor to charge, at current rate, for any pages in excess of 20 printed pages per article.
