

e-mail numbers

As noted in Bulletin 77, in order to facilitate contact between waderologists world-wide, we will be publishing lists of members e-mail numbers from time to time. If you wish your e-mail number to be noted in the Bulletin, please advise Rodney West.

AN E-MAIL LISTSERVER FOR WADERS

Les Underhill & Rene Navarro at the Avian Demography Unit, University of Cape Town, have just set-up a listserver for waders to which anyone interested can subscribe. The idea is to have a world wide discussion group on waders open to all through e-mail. Obviously, the success of this enterprise depends entirely on the people that want to join and take part on the discussions.

The list is not moderated and anyone can post messages. Messages are distributed by the server to all subscribers, who will receive the postings on their mailbox, either as they are posted or in the form of a digest once a while. It is hoped that the WSG will find this a useful tool for speeding communications amongst wader workers.

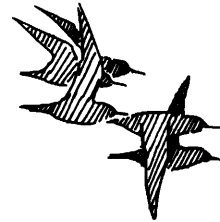

To subscribe send a message to:

listserver@uct.ac.za

and in the body of the message put:

subscribe waders-l your_name

Omit signatures on the message, or put two dashes (--) under the command line. The subscription will be acknowledged by the server, and you will get a welcome message with further instructions. Questions can be directed to R. Navarro at trauco@maths.uct.ac.za

Address list publication

It is some years since we last publish a list of WSG members and their addresses. We aim to include the current membership list in the August Bulletin.

Please advise Rodney West:

- if you do not want your name and address published (we will assume that members have no objection to this unless we hear otherwise);
- if your address is incorrect (but somehow the postman still manages to deliver your Bulletin). Now is the time to tell Rodney where you really live!; or
- if you wish your e-mail number included in the listing (see above).
