COVER PHOTOGRAPH — Skyfull of Pelicans, from an Ektachrome by Jessie O'Connell Gibbs

An extraordinarily rare offer of original lithographs.

AUDUBON'S Monumental BIRDS OF AMERICA

from the internationally acclaimed

Ferrini Collection

The Collection

Volair Limited is proud to announce that it has been selected as the exclusive international representative of the most important private assemblage of antique prints in the world, The Ferrini Collection. The Collection is composed of select prints of exceptional rarity and stunning beauty. Each is a masterpiece of unquestionable pedigree and established investment potential. Our first offering, Audubon's Birds of America, is a fine example.

Requests for participation in the Collection will be honored exclusively by Original Charter Subscription Application and will secure for you, both an original Audubon and the right to participate in important private future offerings.

The History

The Octavo Birds of America are one of Audubon's most celebrated and important works.

Today they are found only in the museums and rare print archives of the world's most prestigious institutions. One archivist has described the public trading of this work as a "trickle so light it can't be felt."

The Birds of America are so intricate in detail, so exacting in color, that even with the assistance of his two sons, it took Audubon four full years (1840-1844) to complete the 500 plates which compose this masterpiece.

Working with famed lithographer J. T. Bowen of Philadelphia, each and every plate was hand-colored and hand printed (an example of a love of craftsmanship rarely seen in modern times). The Octavo Birds of America are an important part of our history. They have stood the test of time and grown in stature, until today, over 130 years later, they are recognized as an American Masterpiece.

The Offer

Audubon is an American legend spanning two centuries.

The most important naturalist artist of all time, his work is as classical as it is timeless.

This offer of original first edition Octavo Birds of America is as rare as the work of art itself. There are quite simply, none left in public circulation.

This offer will likely prove to be the only chance the collector ever has to personally own an Original First Edition Audubon.

Each print has been handsomely framed in gold wood by Curator Dennis Conley. The standard is museum conservation. The matting is 100% all-rag museum board. Each print is framed to prevent deterioration and to compliment its' natural beauty.

Each and every print is of pristine quality and measures 14x16" framed.

Each Original First Edition Audubon is $90.

The price includes all shipping, handling, framing and insurance. Everything. And the offer is limited to one print per subscriber.

Applications will be processed and numbers assigned by earliest postmark with Plate No. 1 going to Subscriber

No. 1, until the 500th Plate is assigned to the 500th Subscriber.

Should you have a preference in your choice of Bird or in color or species, please indicate such in the appropriate sections of the Subscription Application.

The Volair 30-Day Unconditional Guarantee is of course available should you not be entirely satisfied or wish to exchange your print for another.

The Documentation

Each Audubon is delivered with the appropriate Certificate of Authenticity. This document certifies that the work is an original first edition Audubon Bird of America, includes the historical background of the print, bears the Volair Seal and carries the signatures of the following individuals:

Bruce P. Ferrini

The Ferrini Collection

Dennis Conley

Curator of Rare Prints

Murray R. Bowes

Executive Director / Volair Limited

The Donation

The Board of Trustees of the Collection are of the unanimous opinion that a portion of the proceeds generated by this offer should be directed to the conservation of those Birds of America which are in danger of extinction. Therefore, ten percent of any and all profits from this offer will be donated in the Subscriber's name, to the National Audubon Society for conservation purposes.
