On the cover: Some birds just make history. This adult Ross's Gull was discovered by veteran Regional Editor Guy McCaskie at Red Hill marina, at the south end of Salton Sea, California 17 November 2006; it remained to be enjoyed only for one more day (here 18 November). By far, this bird was the southernmost of its species reported anywhere in the world—and, naturally, California's first. Photograph by Larry Sansone.

WORKSHOPS FOR BIRDERS 2008

The Friends of North American Birds

SUPPORT THE FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF NORTH AMERICAN BIRDS,
THE ABA'S JOURNAL OF ORNITHOLOGICAL RECORD

Since its inception, the fund has allowed for many improvements to the journal's look and feel. The journal is now mailed in a protective wrapper to insure its delivery in one piece. The content has benefited from an increase in page count which has allowed for additional articles with even more detailed analysis. The amount of color pages has increased which has allowed for expanded Pictorial Highlights and an occasional Photo Salon.

All of this has been made possible with your generous contributions.

There are more plans in the works for future issues but the fund does need your continued support. To become a "Friend of NAB", simply donate $50 or more. Each "Friend of NAB" will be recognized annually in the first issue of each volume of North American Birds.

A BIRDER'S GUIDE TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

by Brad Schram
Revised 2007
440 pages; paper (lay-flat)

Item #123
ABA Member
Price: $19.96
(List $24.95)

All serious North American birders eventually end up in Southern California. The vast, varied topography that is Southern California has recorded over 555 naturally occurring bird species, many of which are near endemics to its geography. Each of Southern California's many habitats offers its own specialties, and this guide will help you to find them all. New to this edition are chapters covering Kern River Valley, the rugged Clark Mountain wilderness, southeastern California's Blythe region, Sespe Condor Sanctuary, coastal Ventura County, and birding hot spots in suburban San Fernando Valley. The maps, bar-graphs, and Specialties section all have been up-dated to ensure that the reader has effective tools at hand for contemporary birding.
